

Fine Dining Focus: Redstone American Grill Plymouth Meeting

For this month's Fine Dining Focus, I decided to take a trip over to the Redstone Grill in Plymouth Meeting. Redstone Grill has been a favorite of mine when up in the Plymouth Meeting area for quite a while. I think that it's time I share with you exactly why that is.

Here at Bassetts, dessert is always first, so let me dive in. Chef Pedro Lugo makes a couple of truly world class desserts that he pairs with hallowed Bassetts Ice Cream.

The first one I would like to mention is his Chocolate Chip Cookie Sundae. A classic sundae concept that has been revamped up. Chef Pedro has a warm chocolate chip cookie nestled in a hot cast iron skillet with a generous scoop of Bassetts Vanilla Ice Cream on top. He doesn't stop there. This beauty is drizzled with a caramel sauce, topped with candied pecans, and served with a saucier of house made chocolate sauce. Chef Pedro mentioned that the Chocolate Chip Cookie Sundae is his most frequently ordered dessert. We can see why. But the Chocolate Chip Cookie Sundae is not the only thing on the dessert menu.

Chef Pedro also presented to us his decadent Layered Chocolate Cake accompanied by a softball sized scoop of Bassetts Vanilla Ice Cream and made from scratch whipped cream. This wonderful pairing is also served with its very own saucier of chocolate sauce.

Where did Chef Pedro learn to put together dishes like these? Well, he was a graduate of the prestigious Restaurant School in Philadelphia. He was also the Chef at the Joseph Ambler inn for a number of years before coming over to Redstone as Sous Chef and now currently Executive Chef.

Redstone Grill is known for their artfully crafted American Fare. My personal favorite is for the flame licked rotisserie chicken, but the ribs are also out of this world. Stop in and find your new favorite dish. For Those of you not in the Plymouth Meeting area, check out the Redstone in Marlton, NJ and in National Harbor, MD. They are also serving up cool Bassetts Ice Cream desserts. Take a look at their website for more information.

Redstone American Grill Plymouth Meeting

